

Teaching a child not to step on a grasshopper is as important to the child as it is to the grasshopper.

They are not brethren; they are not underlings; they are other nations, caught with ourselves in the net of Life and time, fellow prisoners of the splendor and travail of the earth.

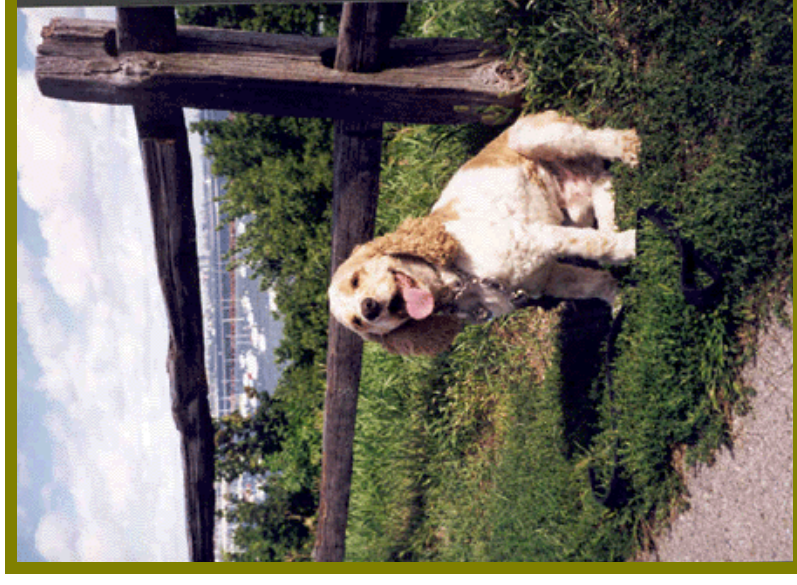

Henry Beston

One can measure the size and moral progress of a nation to how she treats her animals.

Our dogs are not safe in their own homes and yards.

Do you know your local police procedures on animal control?

Laws must be changed across our nation requiring that police officers be trained in safe animal control without resorting to deadly force, killing our animal companions and putting our citizens at risk.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

- We heard about the horrible shooting and killing of the family dog by the police in Tennessee.
- We heard about Sprite, a Cocker Spaniel who was brutally shot and killed, while wagging his tail, by a rookie officer of the Milwaukee Police recently.
- We heard about the Milwaukee Police officer who shot a German Shepherd nine (9) times while he was tethered in his own back yard recently.

We are outraged. We are asking for everyone's help to change the laws to require police officers and other emergency and law enforcement personnel to be properly trained in animal control without the use of unnecessary deadly force resulting in the needless deaths of our canine family companions.

We have set up a web site where people can obtain e-mail addresses to write to those involved in this horror. We have also set up an on-line petition that we are asking everyone everywhere to sign. Our petition can be found on line at www.rememberingsprite.com

We have already had so many e-mails sent on our behalf that the Police Department and District Attorney's Office of Milwaukee are now doing an Internal Affairs and Criminal Investigation into the brutal shooting of Sprite.

The Humane Society of the United States has heard our voices and written to the Milwaukee Police Department and offered to train their personnel to handle companion animals without resorting to deadly force at no cost. They have not responded.

Our goal is to have laws put into place in every state in this country as are currently being enacted in Tennessee, the "General Patton Act of 2003" to require training and certification of all law enforcement officers in animal control. We believe that the lives of our innocent citizens and companion animals must be protected.

We can and will make a difference!

Please sign our on-line petition.
