On June 14, 2003, Valerie Mueller had just talked her friend out of suicide. When the Police arrived to assist, little Sprite the Cocker Spaniel bounded over to greet the six officers and three patrol cars that had answered the call for assistance. Totally unprovoked, one of the Police Officers drew her gun and shot Sprite in the head and killed him—a 30 pound

Cocker Spaniel wagging his little tail. Laws must be changed across our nation requiring that police officers be trained in animal control without resorting to deadly force. Lives of innocent citizens and companion animals must be protected. We can and will make a difference! Please visit us at www.rememberingsprite.com. You can help.
